

CODE OF ETHICS

Primary responsibility of the members of the National Alarm Association of America shall be to our clients, our communities and our country. To this end, we pledge ourselves to uphold the highest standards of performance and professionalism in the performance of all matters pertaining to the Security Industry.

We pledge to deal fairly with customers, competitors, employees, sub-contractors and all others with whom the National Alarm Association has contact.

We pledge to deal fairly with customers, maintain the highest possible standard of life and property in the alarm systems we install and maintain.

We pledge to encourage the development of equipment, materials and techniques which will ensure the consumer the greatest protection and value for all monies spent.

We pledge to encourage and support sound legislation that affects our industry and the customers served by us.

We pledge to uphold the free enterprise system and to uphold these responsibilities freely and openly, always keeping in mind that they are part of our obligation as a member of the National Alarm Association of America.